The Church of St. Bendt
The Church of St. Bendt is the oldest brick church in Scandinavia. From 1182 to 1341 Danish kings and queens were buried in the Church of St. Bendt, which, in terms of architecture, history, and sepulchral monuments, is among the finest in the country. The Church of St. Bendt was the first royal church in Denmark, and in Ringsted rest a.o. King Valdemar The Great, Queen Dagmar and King Valdemar Sej. The church is situated just a 10-minute walk from Ringsted Outlet.
Open every day: winter (September 1st to April 30th) 10.00-13.00 and summer (May 1st to August 31st) 10.00-16.00.

Skjoldnæsholm Tram Museum
Take a ride on one of the trams into the woods and enjoy your picnic at the tables and benches along the stops. At the museum you will find trams on display from Copenhagen, Aarhus, Odense and some foreign cities, including the Melbourne tram, which was a gift from Australia to the Danish Crown Prince couple on the occasion of the birth of Prince Christian. The museum owns more than 100 trams, about half of which have been restored and are now on display.
